Dear Paul,

The two copies of your tning did not arrive until today. As best I can make out the postmark, you mailed them 9/18. They were not missent-they just took that long third class.

I'm sorry for the long delay. I am sending one copy to one expert today, in the hope that, busy as he is, there remains sufficient time.

I will place the other as soon as I can, and I'll supply you with copies of anything they write or say.

The Archives now claims they have copies of the clothing pix without screen and deny they ever t old me otherwise. They are offering to make enlargements from the useless copies they've already supplied.

Justice has finally responded, with the usual semantics, to my suit for the spectros. It is, even for them, a rather inept job. What follows will depend largely on Bud's diligence and legal competence.

So sorry you plan to try and help them so much!

Rregretfully,
